JANESVILLE GREET'S VISITING PARTY AT THE TRAIN TODAY

MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF MILWAUKEE VISITS JANESVILLE.

INSPECTED THE CITY

Mayor John C. Nichols and President A. P. Lovejoy of the Industrial and Commercial Club Welcome Visitors To City.

Some hundred business men and manufacturers of Janesville, were at the Chicago & Northwestern depot this morning at ten fifty-five, when the eleven car special train of the Milwaukee Merchants and Manufacturers Association arrived in the city. The long train pulled in from Beloit, where they had stopped for a morning visit today, having spent the night in Rockford.

Mayor John C. Nichols made a short address of welcome from a truck that was rolled into position on the depot platform and despite the noise made by the switch engines and passing trains, gave a greeting to the visitors and talked on the lack of railway facilities between this city and Milwaukee, which led to a great deal of the business which should belong to Milwaukee, being diverted to Chicago.

One of the features of the coming visit of the automobile endurance run of the Chicago Automobile Club and the Chicago Athletic Club which will make Janesville the night center on June 15th will be a series of boxing contests arranged under the auspices of the Janesville Athletic Club. Kid De Munn of Belvidere, will meet Jony Connel of Gary, Ind., in an eight round match at 142 pounds while the feature of the evening is the go between Harry Forbes of Chicago and Joe Homeland of St. Louis eight rounds at 110 pounds. JANESVILLE SCOUTS ARE NOW ORGANIZED

TWELVE BOYS TOOK THEIR OATH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AND OTHERS WILL BE ADDED TO ORGANIZATION TODAY.

TO BEGIN DRILL WORK

Hans Jaeko Will Instruct the Scouts in Military Drills and Plans Will Be Made For Summer's Work.

At the Lincoln school building last evening twelve boys, selected for reliability and industry, took the oath which made them members of the Boy Scouts, giving the movement in Janesville definite form. It was the first steps in the organization of the Boy Scouts here and follows agitation and plans which had been discussed and formulated for some time past by Mrs. George Hyde and others interested in the movement.

This afternoon at the Lincoln School building some thirty or more boys who have previously signified their intention of joining the organization, if it were perfected, will also take the oath of membership, and the Boy Scouts in this city will be an actuality. The twelve who became members yesterday will assist in the further work of instruction and organization today, and each boy will be assigned two or more of his fellows to teach them the rules, the oath and other matters which it is necessary to know before the boy can be identified with the order.

Plans and suggestions for the carrying on of the movement are expected from the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City. A letter asking for instructions as to how to proceed in the movement has been sent to them and it is possible that they may send a delegate here to aid in the work of organization. Boy Scout badges will also be received for each member of the order and uniforms will be received later.

Among the important things which the Boy Scout receives is the training and discipline that come from the military drill. Realizing the importance, Hans Jaeko has offered his services in teaching the Scouts the military drills and tactics and work on this will begin this week. It is planned to perfect the training of the Scouts in the military drills so that they will be ready to march in the military parade on July Fourth. Mr. Jaeko was formerly a student at West Point and is perfectly familiar with all the army drills. He has also worked out a number of original exercises and has trained the Eagles' drill team. He was greatly pleased to learn that the Scout movement was to be started here and stated that he had often thought of taking up the matter himself.

The month of June will be occupied in the affairs of organization and the learning of the military drills. Mrs. Hyde plans to form a council of men interested in the movement, and of those familiar with boys, to take up the matter of outlining the work for the summer. There are many people in the city who will be willing to expand their energies in this direction, but the personnel of the committee has not been decided. It is thought that one of the things which will be planned will be a "hike" to one of the lakes in the vicinity of Janesville some time this summer.

The following is the oath which each member must take upon initiation—it is known as the Scout's oath: "On my honor I promise that I will do my best.

"1. To do my duty to God and my country.

"2. To help other people at all times.

"3. To obey the Scout law."

The following tests must be passed by the boy desiring to be a Scout and must be thoroughly known before he can take the oath:

"He must know the Scout law and signs, and the salute. He must know the composition of the American flag and the right way to fly it. He must be able to do the four of the following: knots: reef, sheet bend, clove hitch, bowline, middleman's, fisherman's, sheepshank. He must know the Scout's oath and is entitled to wear the buttonhole badge."

The members taken into the order yesterday were well posted on all of these matters and it was decided to know how to fly the flag rather than only four. All of the boys entered into the order with the greatest earnestness and enthusiasm which insured the highest degree of success. It is planned to take in as many as can be handled well during the stages of organization and then to receive a much larger number.

Aside from the local people who have taken up the organization of the Scouts, suggestions will be received from the leaders in the movement in Beloit and other nearby cities who have instituted the order. It is hoped that in this way one of the most perfect organizations can be made in this city.

Muscles May Move Themselves. Albert von Haller, a Swiss surgeon of the eighteenth century, was the first to point out that the muscles of our bodies have an automatic action. Before Haller's time it was believed that the muscles could not contract or swell up of themselves, but were drawn up by the nerves of volition. Haller discovered that this is not so, but that a muscle, if irritated, will draw itself together automatically, even when it is quite separated from the nerves, and this has since been proved to be true by a great number of experiments.

So that though it is true our nerves are the cause of our moving, because they excite the muscles and so cause them to contract, yet the real power of contraction is in the muscle itself. The body of a man is full of wonders, not the least of which is this automatic power of contraction in all muscles.

FOUR AGED PERSONS WERE ENTERTAINED

At the Home of Mrs. T. J. Lloyd Yesterday at One O'clock Dinner Party.

There assembled to celebrate the 83d birthday of Mrs. Mary Boorman church of Janesville, the sister of Mrs. T. J. Lloyd, 421 Madison street, yesterday, a large family connection numbering four persons over 80 years of age.

Tables were scattered in various places about the parlors and in the dining room where the twenty-four guests partook of a dainty repast at 1 o'clock. Toasts, speeches and original recitations occupied the next two hours and at the close all joined in singing the familiar hymn "Shall We Gather at the River." Then the honored guest offered prayer and all declared that it was good to be there.

The guests were: Mrs. Winkley, Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Mabel Morris and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lloyd and Mrs. M. C. Dunlap of Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Hendon of Beloit, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Boorman of Toms, Wis.; Mr. Raymond Boorman of Grapp, Wis.; and Eunice P. Woods of Maywood, Ill.

This Princess an Artist.

Some charming water colors painted by the Duke of Connaught's daughter, Princess Patricia, are being greatly admired at the Royal Amateur Art society's exhibition. The princess is one of the most talented artists in the royal family. In fact, she is an all-round clever girl—a good linguist, a fine musician and a noted sportswoman, being equally proficient in tennis, hockey, golf and horseriding. Her facility with the brush was not acquired of study, and she worked incessantly for a number of years at a private art school in London. Flowers are her favorite subjects, and a few years ago she exhibited at the New Gallery a particularly charming picture of stocks, marigolds and hellebores. As presents to her friends she often gives little flower paintings from her own brush.

Curious Old English Custom.

Some strange old customs are still observed in England. Some seven hundred and fifty people assembled the other Saturday afternoon in the village of Titchborne, near Irford, in Hampshire, to receive among them 700 gallons of flour—the historic Titchborne "dole." Before the distribution Rev. Father O'Flynn, chaplain to the family, blessed the flour and explained the history of the "dole." The origin of the custom, he said, was somewhat vague. An old ballad related how in the time of the "ways and virtues" Prince Henry II., the lady of Titchborne just before she died crawled round a square of land, still marked out, which she said should be devoted to the needs of the poor.

Privilege of the Bar.

Any man can sit on a jury, but a man must be a lawyer to sit on a witness—Puck.

New Use for Tacks.

Doctors found two tacks in a New York woman's lungs. They were doubtless there to help her hold her breath.

Not an Old Man's Game

"I may have lost my golf ball," thought the old man, as he crept on all fours round the bush into which it had rolled, "but I will not lose my temper."

So he continued to grovel and grope, and to wear a persuasive, patient smile. His knees begged, his back ached horribly, and the bush he stood upon his hands a generous quantity of thorns. But he refused to discard his smile, and kept on repeating:

"No, I will not lose my temper. I will not!"

Suddenly the elusive ball caught his eye. Plopping flat, he stretched his hand towards it, grasped it among its nest of thorns, and gingerly withdrew it.

"Holly-holly!" exclaimed an old woman behind him. "You ought to be ashamed, birdnesting at your time of life!"

And then he did lose his temper.

Appropriately Named.

Few St. Louisans are so notoriously bold as Walker Hill, president of the Mechanics-American bank. The other day a friend thrust his head into Mr. Hill's office.

"Getting up in the world, aren't you?"

"Huh?" Mr. Hill said.

"I understand they have named a new town for you."

"That so?" the banker responded, not undisturbed by the news.

"Yes—some place down on the Iron Mountain."

"That's funny," Mr. Hill said. "I don't know anything about it. What's the name of the town?"

"Hill Knob," the friend said, withdrawing apologetically.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Poor.

Mrs. Hightopp—How was the new rector's sermon?

Mrs. Hase—Very disappointing. He was going to talk on "Revolutions," and all the scandals that he had to offer were about cities and people dead and gone centuries ago!—Puck.

Marriage and Business.

"Frederick Townsend Martin, the New York society leader, says that marriage is a business proposition."

"That probably accounts for the large number of failures."

The Janesville Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held their annual meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. A. A. Jackson.

LEAGUE TEAMS SEEK BATTERIES OF THE JANESVILLE TEAM

Minneapolis of American Association Has Made Bid For Pitcher Smith and Springfield of Three Eye Wants Cronan.

Two members of the Janesville baseball team have been placed on the list of desirable recruits for minor league teams, which have been watching the performances of the men. The two are Pitcher Smith and Catcher Cronan. Smith came to the attention of the Minneapolis team through his good work and an effort was made to get him. Springfield of the Three Eye league made a similar bid for Cronan and while it would mean a change for the two men to break into league company, it is likely that Brown will hold them here for the summer for his aggregation.

As a feature of next Sunday's game at the Fair Grounds between the local nine and the Madison City team, Manager Brown is negotiating to secure Pitcher Smith of Knoxville, a southpaw who muzzles the batter in great style. Smith, in his work in the box, "winds up" with his right arm and throws with the left. He has an amount of speed and may send the ball speeding over the plate before the batter is ready to strike at it. Cronan is another strong feature of Smith's qualities. Peterson, another clever twirler, will be on hand for Sunday's game and if Smith is not on the job will go in the box. Peterson, although only twenty-two years of age, has the makings of a great pitcher and is looked on as a "corner" in big league circles. He tried out with Toledo of the American Association this spring, but his arm weakened and he was unable to join the team. At Delavan on Memorial Day Peterson pitched against the Delavan City team and allowed but two hits. Sixteen men were fanned by the big pitcher, who stands six feet two inches in the air for the contest will be the same as in the eleven inning battle, which Janesville fought out to victory here on Memorial Day. Brown will be on the first sack. Miller on second and Markle, whom Brown signed up recently will cover third. Peterson or Smith will be in the left side of the garden, Peterson will work in center field and Kinney will play on the right side of the lot. Jung is slated as short stop.

A week from Sunday the Stockford Ramblers will play here.

Repairs and improvements have been made at the Fair Grounds so as to make things more convenient and pleasant for the fans. The roof of the grand stand, which on one rainy Sunday turned a sudden down-pour of rain into a shower bath for the spectators sheltered under it, has been "prowled" and made weather proof. The position of the entrance to the grand stand has also been changed.

The Fifth Grade nine of the Jefferson School doubled the score of their opponents, the Fourth Grade team, in a game yesterday, winning 28 to 14. The contest was played on the diamond in the court house park. Harris and Metcalf were the batteries for the victors and McCue, Jenkins and Edson for the Fourth grade.

"Whirlwinds" Win. The Harmony "Whirlwinds" shut out the Milton "Shoguns" 9 to 0 in a game at Julius' baseball park Sunday. Goofrey, twirler for Harmony, had the batteries for his opponents completely at his mercy and kept them fanning wildly at his curves.

Southern Golf Tourney Opened. Nashville, Tenn., June 6.—Golf enthusiasts from all parts of the South are in attendance at the Nashville Golf and Country Club, where the annual meeting of the Southern Golf Association and the tenth annual tournament of the organization opened today under the most auspicious conditions. The meeting will continue through the week and the finals will be played on Saturday. The qualifying rounds were begun today and will be continued tomorrow.

Epigram Cynical Code. Procrastination is the thief of time. Curiosity is the porch climber of society. The past is the hold-up man of ambition. Good-fellowship is the frobing of sobriety. Conquetry of Golf. Golf is the coquette of games. It always lures you on and always swades you. Ten years ago I thought I had nearly got it. The Wealth of Some People. Apartments at $22,000 a year are announced in one of New York's latest houses of multiple dwellings. More significant than the rental figures themselves is the fact that they are set forth quite casually. The man may happen in to-morrow who finds the $22,000 suite exactly what he wants.

PASSING OF ST. AGNES LIGHT

Famous Beacon on British Coast Is to Be Replaced After Centuries of Service.

One of the oldest and most famous lighthouses in the world is to disappear. According to an official "Notice to Mariners" issued by Trinity House, the St. Agnes Light, Scilly, is to be replaced by a light on Penhryn head, St. Mary. For centuries it has gladdened the eyes of passengers from the other side of the Atlantic or has blinked a parting to emigrants.

It stands inland on the highest ground in the island of St. Agnes and the first light was lit on the spot as long ago as 1680. Coal was the only illuminant and the light was often allowed to go out. But in 1799 oil lamps and reflectors were installed and flashes of the present one-minute revolving light can be seen at a distance of 30 miles.

Probably one of the chief motives which prompted the placing of a guiding light on the island was the reputation which St. Agnes bore for wrecking in the old days. Many a ship was lured on the rocks by false lights and the tradition was preserved among seamen for many years afterward. It is stated that almost within living memory a crew who were shipwrecked on the island kept their would-be rescuers at bay with stones. They feared that they would be massacred and could be approached only when they dropped helpless from hunger and exhaustion.

The most famous of many wrecks off the Scillies occurred in Port Hellick bay near the site of the new St. Mary's light. It was here that Admiral Sir Cloudeley Shovel with four men of war and many hundreds of sailors was lost in 1707 while returning from the capture of Gibraltar. It is stated that a sailor warned the admiral, to whom there is a much abused monument in Westminster abbey, of his danger and that he was promptly hanged at the yardarm for insubordination. On another occasion a ship turned turtle and was driven into the bay. Sounds were heard from the upturned hull and when an opening was cut in the hull a number of the crew were found alive within.

The new light will be semi-attended and will be exhibited from a circular iron tower which will be painted white and will be 45 feet in height.

An Artless Distinction. Lewis, aged three, asked his mother or what he was made of. The mother replied, "Sugar, because you are so sweet." Soon after she heard him declare to his little colored companion, "I am made of white sugar and you are made of brown sugar."—The Delinquent.

Only Two. "Yes, the little town where I came from produced two great men." "Who was the other?"

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Bpy Who Threw Stones

CLATTER, clatter came the sound up the roadway, and Philip, stepping behind a tree, awaited the coming of the man on horseback.

"What fun it would be to throw a stone at the horse and see him jump," he said to himself.

The horse came nearer.

"Yes, he would do it. It would be lots of fun," he thought.

And at his feet there lay a small stone—just the right size. He picked it up.

It was Mr. Thompson who was riding the horse, and he was a very kind-hearted man. Little did he know that a bad boy was hiding behind a tree just ahead of him.

And then the horse passed by the tree where Philip was hiding. Up went Philip's arm, and whiz went the stone. It struck the horse squarely on the flank, and with a cry it dashed off down the roadway, almost throwing Mr. Thompson.

My, how scared Philip was. He had and how, perhaps, he might have broken his arm or a leg. He went out into the roadway, and of a sudden his heart went up in his throat, for there ahead of him and riding towards him was Mr. Thompson.

He turned about and ran for his home as fast as he could go. Behind Mr. Thompson thundered after him.

"Oh, he will run over me; he will run over me," wailed Philip, and he ran faster.

But Mr. Thompson didn't run over him. He just chased him to his door, where he looked down sadly upon Philip, who lay crouching with fear on the front step.

"I don't think you meant to do it, Philip," he said. "You just didn't think, that's all."

And what do you think Mr. Thompson did?

He gave Philip a ride on his horse and Philip was just as ashamed as he could be.

He never threw stones after that.

Wonders of Memory.

Plato makes Hippocrates boast that he could repeat 500 words after hearing them once, but this is nothing compared with the claims of Seneca. In his declamations in speaking of the former tenacity of his memory he says that he was able to repeat 2,000 names in the order in which they had been given to him.

A Good Syrup For Whooping Cough

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most potent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by perspiration from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The irritation is relieved, the lungs healed without danger of pneumonia. It's safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. P. P. Two banks failed in a little dried up town of central New York the other day and one man had $10,000 in cash which had been deposited for fifteen years drawing two per cent interest. Had he put the money in Wisconsin farm loans he would have had $12,000 more interest and all his money. Instead he received only $6,700 from the receiver. In other words, he invested $20,000 and received $6,000 in interest and $6,700 final dividends, total $12,700. By the farm mortgage route he would have invested $20,000 and have received $18,000 interest and the whole principal, total $38,000. He lost just $25,300 by not using good judgment in investing his money.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS MAN'S WHEREABOUTS

HAROLD F. CAMPBELL HAS BEEN MISSING FROM CITY SINCE MEMORIAL DAY.

BY AUTO TO MONROE

Has Breakdown There, Wires Wife He Will Be Home by Train Next Morning And Has Been Gone a Week.

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Harold F. Campbell, proprietor of the Janesville Vulcanizing company on North Main street, who left this city on Memorial day for Monroe in an automobile, after telling his wife that he was going to collect some bills at that city, and who has not been heard from since. Shortly after he had reached Monroe, Mrs. Campbell received a wire to the effect that his machine had broken down and that he would be home on the train in the morning. The last that anyone has seen of the man was when he left the garage at Monroe, last Wednesday morning for the depot.

For the past week an effort has been made on the part of the local police and others who knew of the disappearance, to find if some clue to the man's whereabouts has been heard and so far nothing has been heard and if the earth had opened and swallowed him up, he could not have dropped out of sight more mysteriously.

Campbell was known to be peculiar in that he was liable to be impulsive and make up his mind on the spur of the moment. It was noticed that for several days preceding his starting for Monroe, he had been rather dejected and downcast and that he was given to brooding over apparently nothing.

The man's business was known to be growing and all financial matters in good shape. After his leaving for Monroe and wiring Mrs. Campbell to the attention was paid to his non-appearance the next morning on the first train, but later in the day Mrs. Campbell confided to several people the fact that she was not certain that everything was right with him. Upon phoning to the garage people at Monroe, it was learned that he had left his car there and had left for the depot that morning with the apparent intention of coming home.

Campbell was not a heavy drinker but had been known on several occasions to go on spree and take trips to certain places, but it was always after telling his wife where he was going. Mrs. Campbell is now in communication with a man by the name of H. H. Ayres at Richfield, Wash., an old friend of Campbell's, as she thinks that he may have taken a trip to that place on the impulse of the moment. Another place where he has gone on former occasions is Youngstown, O., and she is also awaiting word from friends at this place in the hope that he might have decided to spend a few days there.

Chief of Police Appleby has phoned to places around here that he might have reached on trains leaving Monroe that morning, but no man answering to his description has been found. Campbell is described as about five feet eight inches in height, light complexion, light hair and blue eyes. He has spent a great part of his life in Janesville and his father, Isaac Campbell, resides near the cemetery, in this city.

Mrs. Campbell is impressed somewhat with the foul play theory also, and thinks that he might have met with trouble on account of the money which he carried with him. When he left here he had a little over two hundred dollars on his person and probably added some bills. Some of this was in checks, but only one of these has been returned to the lower City bank, and that was cashed on the day he left here at a local business place.

The missing man has built up quite a business in the tire vulcanizing and repairing line since coming here to locate permanently about one year ago. It was learned that his accounts were in fairly good shape and that there was no cause for his leaving on that score. Mrs. Campbell is today waiting for word from a friend of Campbell's in Chicago, and who, it is hoped, will send someone to attend to the work at the shop in undergoing a severe struggle with the worry about the money she is becoming more firmly convinced that he has been the victim of foul play.

THE UPLANDS SALE OPENS TOMORROW

Messrs. Bunn and Son will open sale of lots in the Uplands tomorrow and these gentlemen are well known to the people of Janesville as they conducted the first sale in Janesville on what you might call easy payment plans. They have secured this property which is now known as the Uplands at a price that will allow them to sell you lots for less money than people in Janesville have ever had an opportunity to buy. In fact, if you visit this addition you will be quick to see that it is most desirable either for a home site or an investment.

The Uplands fronts on Ruger Ave., which is a continuation of Court Street and residence property only one block from the Uplands is now selling for three times what we ask. The building restrictions on this property will only allow good homes being built and already several nice homes are about completed. This offer comes as near being ideal as any which you could desire. Janesville is growing towards the Uplands and there is no doubt but when the contemplated extensions for street railways are completed the line will run past this addition. Every adult attending this sale will receive one ticket free whether you buy or not on a beautiful lot to be given away. We do this for the reason that we know that if you see this property you will be quick to take advantage of the price and terms we offer.

The terms of sale are $500 down and then five per week until lots are paid for without interest or taxes. When lot is paid for you receive a warranty deed and abstract of title free.

In reaching the Uplands, walk six blocks east on Court Street, or call us by phone 1013 or 1041 and we will take you out. See Wednesday, June 7th, at 8 a. m.

AN ANSWERED PRAYER HAS BEEN RECEIVED

Strange Letter Received in Janesville From the East—For All of Mankind.

One of the oldest chains of prayer that have from time to time been known to start, and before ending have reached thousands, was received by a Janesville lady this past week. It is so impressive a document that it is being copied, and at the suggestion of several it is re-printed with an idea of giving it full publicity should others desire to follow out the chain. It is as follows:

"An Answered Prayer."
"Lord Jesus, I implore Thee to bless all mankind and keep us from evil by Thy precious blood, and when life is over take me to dwell with Thee through all Eternity.—Amen."

This prayer was sent to me; I send it to you. It is an answered prayer. Copy it and see what will happen. It is said in Jesus' name. He who will not copy this prayer will meet with misfortunes. He who will copy it for nine days, beginning the day received, and send to a friend, each day, will on the ninth day receive some great joy, and be free from all calamities. Make a wish while writing this prayer and do not break it. Thousands are taking this up. Please do not neglect this prayer; it must reach all mankind.

LEPROSY UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES

Along with her colonial territories America has acquired a leprosy problem of her own. The alarm caused by the discovery of individual cases in New England or elsewhere serves to emphasize the fact that in Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines there are some thousands of sufferers from this foul disease.

In the Philippines the policy of isolation on the island of Cebu is being vigorously carried out, and that is now the largest leprosy settlement in the world. Fully 3,000 lepers have been gathered up from the various islands, and are now being cured for and treated by the authorities. Vigorous administration of the law will, no doubt, add considerably to this number. In due course this policy steadily pursued, together with better conditions of living, and improved health laws, should greatly reduce, if it does not entirely exterminate the disease from the islands.

Mr. John Jackson, F. R. G. S. of the Mission to Lepers, reports that in the Molokai settlement he found a considerable reduction of the number of lepers as compared with former years. This points to progress in the stamping out of the disease among the island people. There are now not more than about 800 lepers in the settlement as compared with 1200 a few years ago.

The Louisiana Colony near New Orleans contains about 60 cases, with similar numbers in the settlements in Singapore and at Ponikwa Island. To the latter place have been sent the lepers who have been sent.

Mr. Jackson will lecture in the Congregational church Friday evening, June 9, under the auspices of the Evangelical churches of the city, to the leprosy lecture all citizens of Janesville are cordially invited without distinction of creed or race.

Pictures will be exhibited.

CELEBRATE GIBBONS' GOLDEN JUBILEE

President Taft, Roosevelt, Clark, Cannon and Many Others Are in Attendance.

Baltimore, Md., June 6.—As a tribute to Cardinal Gibbons for his public service as an American citizen, a non-sectarian celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood and the twenty-fifth of his elevation to the cardinalate was opened in the Fifth Regiment armory here today, at which many notable men were present.

This event stands unique not only because it is the greatest public celebration ever tendered a member of the American clergy, but because of the widespread non-sectarian interest shown and the hearty friendliness and reverence of men whose religious opinions conflict.

The exercises began at 1 o'clock, in the afternoon and were attended by many men famous in the current history of the United States. Among these distinguished persons were President Taft, ex-President Roosevelt, Speaker Champ Clark, ex-Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, Chief Justice White of the Supreme court, and a host of leading clergymen of the Catholic and other denominations. The city of Baltimore is in gala attire, for all its people love and reverence Cardinal Gibbons.

WRONG BABY BOY IS KIDNAPED.

Son of Chauffeur Taken for Grandson of Rich Pittsburgher.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6.—Kidnapers seeking the three-year-old grandson of D. M. Clemson, a millionaire steel manufacturer of this city, secured Ralph Benson, the little son of Mr. Clemson's chauffeur. The Benson child was found wandering miles away from home, where he had been abandoned when the kidnappers discovered their mistake. Detectives are now guarding the rich man's son, Richard Clemson, son of Ralph E. Clemson, and little Ralph Benson look so much alike that they might be taken for twins. The older Mrs. Clemson is very fond of the chauffeur's child and provides him with clothes of fine texture. The children were playing together when strangers came along and picked the best dressed of the pair.

STEP NEARER MAINE SECRET.

Begin Pumping Water to Expose Wrecked Battleship.

Havana, June 6.—The preliminary stage in the work of exposing the wreck of the old battleship Maine was completed when repairs to the caisson which was ruptured two weeks ago were finished by the driving of the last interlocking piles. Immediately the work of pumping out the water from the main caisson was begun, two powerful centrifugal pumps being used, and the water level had been lowered two feet when work was suspended.

At this stage of the operations no indications have been observed of any instability in the retaining walls.

Present indications are that some weeks must elapse before a complete examination is possible.

EXECUTE 28 MEXICAN 'LIBERALS'

Maderist Troops Put Gang of Bandits to Death.

Tucson, Ariz., June 6.—Twenty-eight Maderistas (Mexican Liberals) who are opposed to Madero were executed near Campana and Altar. The district has been cleared of Maderistas, who are chased by the provisional government as bandits. The twenty-eight executed were captured after a skirmish in which there were a number of casualties on both sides. It is said that Maderist troops have orders to put all captured outlaws to death.

RANSOM OF $50,000 DEMANDED.

Salonica, June 6.—Brigands, who captured Professor Richter, the German scientist, now demand a ransom of $50,000. Brigands have beaten many residents in the village of Kolkopin at the foot of Mount Olympus on the ground that they are suspected of having relations with the brigands. Other troops have unsuccessfully pursued the bandits.

$75,000 ALIMONY A COMPROMISE.

Mrs. H. L. Wheeler Settles Case Against Former Yale Professor.

New Haven, Conn., June 6.—Judgment has been satisfied in the divorce decision for Mrs. Eva Stewart Wheeler against her husband, Prof. H. L. Wheeler, in which alimony of $100,000 was awarded by the court, according to papers filed. The amount of the actual settlement is not given, but the understanding is that a compromise was reached for about $75,000.

Professor Wheeler, whose resignation from the Yale faculty has been accepted, went to Chicago after the decision was made public. The grounds upon which the divorce was granted was cruelty.

Atene, N. Y., June 6.—On the charge of failure to provide and desertion, Mrs. Ruth Bagley Shepard filed suit for divorce against Prof. William Kent Shepard. The defendant is a professor at Yale university.

NEW JERUSALEMITES ASSEMBLE

General Convention Is Attended by Many Clergy and Laity.

Chicago, June 6.—The general convention of the New Jerusalem in the United States, which opened here today, is of unusual interest, and has brought to Chicago a large number of the clergy and laity of that sect. The series of meetings of bodies affiliated with the main body began with a session of the council of ministers at the La Salle hotel, Rev. Louis G. Hoeck of Cincinnati presiding. The meetings of the several affiliated bodies will take up the time until Saturday noon, when the main convention will be called to order and the president, Rev. H. S. Seward of New York, will deliver an address on "The Work of the Ministry."

RECEIVER FOR REALTY COMPANY

Court Takes Action in Another E. C. Lewis Property.

St. Louis, June 6.—Judge Dyer of the United States circuit court appointed a receiver for the University Heights Realty and Development company, one of the E. C. Lewis corporations. Attorneys for the magazine publishers' organization committee, appointed recently to take charge of the Lewis properties, valued at several million dollars, said the receivership will not affect the organization plans.

Arrests in $12,000 Fire.

Chicago, June 6.—Leopold Dreyfus of the firm of L. Dreyfus & Co., clothiers, his brother, Lazarus Dreyfus, an employee, and Max Cohen, a bookkeeper, were taken into custody by detectives in connection with a fire that damaged the concern about $12,000.

Presbyterians of Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., June 6.—The thirty-seventh General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will meet in Knox Church in this city tomorrow, with the retiring Moderator, the Rev. Dr. John Forrest in the chair. The most of the ministerial commissioners are here, and the arrivals tomorrow are expected to make up the complement.

Outward and visible signs are abundant that the present General Assembly is likely to be one of the most important of recent years. There are many big questions for the commissioners to consider and act upon. Church union is one of the foremost of these, and it is predicted that it will cause a keen discussion. The proposition that the Presbyterians should unite in an organic way with the Methodist and Congregational churches in Canada was first brought up in the assembly at St. John seven years ago. During the past year the question has been voted on by the six presbyteries of the Presbyterian church, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the result shows a decided sympathy on the part of the ministers and the presiding elders in favor of the movement for union.

The position of Queen's University and its future relation to the church, a question that has been a bone of contention for almost a decade, will come up again and with a fair prospect of final settlement. Principal Grant during the latter years of his life, urged that the university should be nationalized, and Principal Gordon, now in charge, has taken the same stand. A small society of Presbyterians, however, has strongly resisted the idea of separation and has sought to have the present relationship continued.

The election of a Moderator this year is creating little interest, from the fact that the choice of the Rev. Dr. H. P. Mackay of Toronto, well known as the secretary of the foreign mission committee of the church, is generally regarded as a foregone conclusion.

RECIPROCITY Foe IS ELECTED.

W. R. Green, Who Opposes Canadian Agreement, Goes to Congress.

Des Moines, Ia., June 6.—The election in the Ninth Iowa district was on the reciprocity issue and it proved anything. It proved that Iowa is in favor of President Taft's position.

W. R. Green of Audubon, Republican, was elected by a majority estimated at 1,200, defeating W. S. Cleveland of Harlan. Green ran on an anti-reciprocity platform and Cleveland pro-reciprocity.

Normally, the district is 10,000 Republican. When Walter I. Smith ran the time before last, his majority was 11,000.

COMMISSION FORM HELD LEGAL.

Illinois Circuit Court Rules Law Is Constitutional.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—Judge Creighton in the circuit court handed down an opinion in which he holds the commission form of government act to be constitutional. The question of the validity of the law was raised when city and county officials were unable to agree as to the manner in which tax money should be paid to the city. It is probable that the case will be taken to the supreme court for a final ruling.

NORSEMEN GATHER AT ROUEN

Celebrate Thousandth Anniversary of Establishment of Normandy Duchy.

Rouen, France, June 6.—Great crowds of the descendants of the Norsemen from a score of countries have gathered here for a unique international celebration that began today. It marks the one thousandth anniversary of the establishment of the Duchy of Normandy and the creation of Rollo as the first duke of Normandy by King Charles the Simple. Delegations have come from the United States, England, Russia, Germany, Greece, Spain, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and from Canada, especially, where the French inhabitants are of Norman descent, and wreaths and garlands from every quarter of the globe have been laid at the base of the statue of Rollo.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—A resolution was adopted by the Reformed Presbyterian Synod making the minimum salary of the lowest-paid minister $800 a year, instead of $600.

AGED AUTHOR SERIOUSLY ILL.

John Bigelow Is Believed to Be Near Death.

Highland Falls, N. Y., June 6.—John Bigelow, author and diplomat, who is now in his ninety-fourth year, is ill, confined to his bed in his country home here. His physicians hold out little hope of his recovery.

Mr. Bigelow's health, reinforced by his recent trip to Europe, has been surprisingly good until last Wednesday. It is supposed he overtaxed his strength at the opening of the New York public library on May 23, when, in addition to receiving the keys from Mayor Gaynor, he made a speech lasting fifteen or twenty minutes.

The exact nature of Mr. Bigelow's ailment is not known, but it is said to be intestinal trouble.

Building Trades Men at Vancouver Individually "Cease Labor."

Vancouver, B. C., June 6.—Thirty-five hundred men of the building trades quit work in what they facetiously described as a "cessation from labor." To strike is made illegal by the federal law; hence every man acted individually and failed to appear for work. All union carpenters are out, but the bricklayers refused to join them.

The Bicycle in England.

It is believed that the largest employer in the world of the bicycle is the British postmaster general. He has in his department at present 11,400 of them, about one-half of which are used by the rural delivery carriers. Each bicycle averages 10,000 miles of travel a year, making more than 110,000,000 miles in the aggregate or 17,000,000 miles further than the distance from the earth to the sun. The life of the post office bicycle averages four and a half years, and that of a tire about nine months. Except for improvements in brakes, change speed gears and other details, the design of the bicycle has remained unaltered for ten years.—Youth's Companion.

Pride of Race.

Many stories are told of the pride of those long descended English country squires. They have held their own even with peers of ancient creation. A great friend of the duke of Norfolk, who died in 1815—"Jockey of Norfolk"—was an old squire who always maintained that his name, Huddleston, was a corruption of the Saxon "Aethelstan," and consequently much more ancient than that of Howard. Like the duke, he was a great toper, and at dinner one day rolled off his chair to the floor. The duke ordered a member of his family to raise him up. "Never," hiccupped the old man, "never shall it be said that the head of the house of Huddleston was lifted up by a junior member of the house of Howard." "Then, old friend," answered the genial duke, "as Howard is too drunk to lift him up he will lie down beside him," and he did.

"Yes, sir. Do you want just a plain bottom put in it?"

"Well, how soon can I get it?"

"I could send it by tomorrow morning."

"Come to think of it, I would rather have a rush bottom in the chair."

"Then you can't get it before next week. If we rush it, it will take much longer than if we don't."

Boy Scouts and Tramps.

The Boy Scouts of America are to be taught to interpret the secret signs used by tramps who annoy housekeepers and rob homes, the idea being that, when dangerous designs are indicated by the symbols done in chalk on fences and gate posts the police notified. If Young Hawkshaw, the detective, several thousand of him, takes up this matter in earnest one forenoon that the wandering gentleman of leisure will have to change his code.

WATCH US GROW

This slogan was adopted without any desire to brag, but with the full determination to "Make Good."

We have worked hard and built up a trade in two and one-half years of which we have reason to be proud.

Now we must have more room, and our landlord is going to build an extension clear to the alley, and will also install a modern front. This will give to Janesville the finest ladies' furnishing house in Southern Wisconsin.

We have made our purchases for the summer, and new goods are arriving every day. We want to begin alterations as soon as possible, and will rush two months' business in one.

MOST LUXURIOUS OF TRAINS

Elaborate Equipment of That in Which the Czar and Czarina of Russia Travel.

The new Russian imperial railway train in which the czar and czarina travel is said to be the most luxurious in the world, eclipsing even the kaiser's elaborate train do lux.

The car's train consists of eleven carriages. It is entirely on the corridor system, is fitted with electric bells and lighted by electricity. The carriages of the emperor and empress are in the middle of the train.

The empress' drawing room, has the walls covered with pale rose silk and her bedclothing is hung with light blue satin, the furniture being covered with English cretonne of the same color. Each sleeping saloon has a bathroom and dressing room attached. The emperor's simple tastes are shown by the fact that he uses the dining saloon as a study, and it is there he transacts all his business with the help of his two secretaries.

Senseless, But Saved Train.

Although stricken senseless and fatally injured, Michael Callahan, a passenger train engineer on the Lehigh Valley railroad, the other night managed to bring his train to a standstill. The train was approaching White Haven when Callahan, leaning from his cab window to watch for signals, was struck on the head by one of the iron standards supporting the signals. He was evidently knocked unconscious immediately and fell to the floor of the cab. The fireman's first intimation of the accident was the sudden stopping of the train, and it was found that Callahan, who had his hand on the throttle while looking out of the window, had instinctively closed it as he fell and stopped the train.

Simple Rules of Health.

Half the ill from which women suffer are due to defective circulation. Restricted by tight clothing and not stirred by vigorous exercise, the blood becomes sluggish and waste accumulates, all of which means congestion and lowered vitality.

The chief aim of the woman who feels run down, especially if she suffers from cold hands or feet, is to stir her circulation. Do not confound this with stimulation. The practice of making the blood flow more quickly by a hot drink is purely temporary.

Deep breathing exercises before an open window will quickly get one in a glow; so will a brisk rub with cold water or a brisk walk.

A Foolish Question.

A reader of the New York World writes to that paper to ask whether it is proper for a young man to send candy to a girl whom he has met but once. What a question! Why, most young men begin handling a girl taffy as soon as they are introduced to her.

Why the Women Fly.

A man observer has found out why Washington society women are taking such an active interest in aviation. Many have delved deeply into the lore of aeronautics and several of the more daring even have been tempted aloft. The reason is because the feminine students of flying wish to wear the strikingly becoming costume which Gladys Hinkley has devised for herself and her sisters who soar. Miss Hinkley, when she practices flights from the Speedway, is dressed in a gown of pale lavender corduroy, fitted tightly. The waist, also of corduroy, is made with what are known as "pennant sleeves," and has a Dutch neck. The hat is an effective as it is novel, but after all, it is the boots which take the eye of the women and make them desire to play at aeroplaning, even if they never get off the ground. The boots are of soft tan leather, and lace to the knee. The skirt is short enough so the footgear is by no means hidden. Many of the aviation enthusiasts are planning to have machines sent to their summer homes, and in the fall it is intended to have a meet in which debutantes and matrons will compete.

Incidents of Census Taking.

Many curious incidents cropped up at the taking of the British census a few days ago. An old woman at Northwich had to visit the churchyard to ascertain how many of her children had died; the number was four: "I have to keep him—I am the head of the family," pleaded a wife in Kingston-on-Thames, but the enumerator entered the husband first. A family of seventeen sons and daughters, required a second form at Thornton, Northwich, as the ordinary schedule has only fifteen spaces, resenting the persistence of a census officer, who had to knock three times before he could get a reply, a Hoxton man struck the enumerator, badly bruising one of his eyes; while a proud father in Ecclesall who had a baby a few hours old calmly explained on the census form that the baby was single and not married.

Not Fond of His Cat.

"I was reading today about the cat exchange they have in Paris," "I wish we had one here. I've got a cat at home that I'd exchange for a bogus check on a busted bank and throw in the car fare to boot."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

All Up with Him Then.

"Many a man," says Brother Williams, "thinks himself 'twist do devil an' de deep sea, an' he can't fight fire, an' he dunno how ter swim."—Atlanta Constitution.

Betrayed by Teeth Marks.

In Pensola recently a burglar was convicted on the evidence of teeth marks in an apple which he had bit on while engaged in his thievery.

T. LEWIS LEAVING THE MINE.

THOMAS LEWIS.

EX-PRESIDENT LEWIS ENJOYS PICKING COAL.

Wheeling, W. Va.—After fifteen years of arduous labor as officer of the United Mine Workers of America, in which organization he grew to be president, Thomas Lewis has returned to private life and is now engaged in his old occupation of picking coal. "My work as a miner is certainly easier than my work as President of the Miners," said Lewis. "As President, I worked fifteen hours a day. Now I work eight hours and my day's work is done."

DAY ANNOUNCED RESULTS OF MONTH'S COMPILATIONS AND STATISTICS.

TOTAL OF SALARIES

Shows Number of Pieces Handled,
Both Incoming and Outgoing, Average Time Consumed and Times Handled.

During the month of May, 487,968 pieces of mail of all classes were handled in the local postoffice. This is the result of the test which was carried on by the postoffice force all last month, made public by Postmaster Valentine this morning. Short after the close of the month, a mass of figures, covered each day and representing extra hours and hard work on the part of the entire postoffice force, have been boiled down until in eight totals, the authorities at Washington have the amount of work done in the Janesville office for one month at their command.

The number of pieces handled, the actual time consumed in handling, the average number of pieces handled in a minute and the average number of handling each piece received, were all ascertained regarding the mail in the hands of the carriers, both incoming and outgoing, and finally the same was found for all of the mail handled at the office, which is the grand total of the whole month.

The totals on the sheet representing the mail matter which went through the office, give the following result: In the outgoing mail, the number of pieces handled was 325,041, the actual time in minutes consumed in handling, 42,450, the average number of pieces handled per minute, 7.7, and the average number of handling each piece received, 3.7. This represents all mail collected by the carriers and mailed at the office, in short, all of the mail which has left the city.

The totals for the incoming mail were as follows: Number of pieces handled, 362,904, actual time consumed in handling, in minutes, 36,410; average number of pieces handled per minute, 10; average number of handling each piece received, 2.

The results of the work of the carriers, that is, the mail collected and delivered by them, is as follows: Mail collected, number of pieces handled, 63,482; actual time in minutes consumed, 3,329; average number of pieces handled per minute, 20.8; average number of handling each piece received, 2.

The results in the incoming mail, which represents all mail delivered, was as follows: Number of pieces handled, 362,904; actual time consumed in handling, 42,450; average number of pieces handled per minute, 10; average number of handling each piece received, 3.

Join the Band Boosters' Club.

The reorganization of the Bower City Band is a matter in which the citizens generally are deeply interested and the efficiency of this musical organization will largely depend upon the support given it by the people of Janesville. It starts out under flying colors under the leadership of Mr. S. H. Buchanan, a gentleman who has had long experience and who has the splendid Edgerton band as an illustration of what can be done under proper guidance.

The personnel of the Bower City band includes musicians of the highest grade, men who are thoroughly interested in band work and it will not be long before this organization takes the place among the leading musical aggregations in the state.

The citizens of Janesville can assist materially in encouraging efficiency in this line of musical perfection by making it possible to hold weekly band concerts in the Court House Park during the summer season through their financial assistance and a statement that they desire such concerts.

The plan is, beginning July 1st, to hold weekly concerts for ten weeks. A fund of $400 must be raised to cover the expense of these events and those who enjoy music, those who have been in the habit of going to the Court House Park to listen to the music in the past should be willing to express themselves and to also contribute whatever they feel they can.

Want your place? All that the enclosed coupon and send it to Frank E. Lane, secretary of the Industrial and Commercial club, at once so that it may be determined as to whether further efforts should be expended in completing final arrangements?

Frank E. Lane, Secy. Industrial and Commercial Club.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—That new cure seems alright for Father, but it made everybody else sick.

Mrs. Misselner's eyebrows went up. "Yes," the detective went on, "an inside job. Who did you say had the combination?"

"My secretary—Miss Holcomb."

"Oh!" said Donnelly. Carson's lips rounded in mute repulsion.

Sands, impatient of the detective's awkward questioning, shook himself loose and went to a window. Griswold swung his foot idly, and smoked in shorter measure. Ransome looked nervously at the inquirer, then swung his gaze back to the jewel trays. Dorothy listened with wide-eyed interest.

"What do you know about this Miss Holcomb?" asked Donnelly, squaring himself as if for a trial of strength with the widow and turning out his toes farther than ever.

"I have known her many years," said Mrs. Misselner quietly, adding with warmth, "She is a young woman of high character."

"Oh, who is she?" returned the sleuth. "And how, may I ask, ma'am, do you know that?"

"I say, I have known her many years," said Mrs. Misselner.

Donnelly held whispered consultation with his mate. Then he asked if he might question the servants.

"Certainly, if you think it necessary," assented the widow. "But I should warn you that I cannot bring myself to suspect any of them."

"Everybody seems to be above suspicion," snapped Donnelly. "It's always the way, until we begin to get on the trail, and then everybody becomes suspicious. I think I'll question the servants, ma'am. Shall I have 'em in here?"

Mrs. Misselner bowed and sent Blodgett to summon his comrades.

"One at a time, please," said Donnelly. The first to enter was the housekeeper, a stout woman in a black gown with narrow white ruffling about her withered neck. She knew nothing of the jewels save that madam always locked them in the safe herself, unless Miss Holcomb was there to do it for her.

The answers of the other servants were equally straightforward. The butler, under-butler, chef, second footman, pantry-boy, parlormaid, chambermaid, and kitchen maid, and the majestic Blodgett himself were interrogated persistently, minutely, doggedly, even brutally, and in the end the net result of what they had to tell was zero. That is to say, as far as Mrs. Misselner and her friends and the diamond expert were concerned, Donnelly thought otherwise. Carson's mind was a receptive blank.

"Are these all the servants?" asked the large detective.

"All at present," answered Mrs. Misselner. "My own maid is away on leave. Oh, yes, there's Ali."

"Is Ali the name of your maid?"

"No, Ali is a man—an Indian."

"And what's his job?" This age gravely.

"He is a courier."

Donnelly was puzzled.

"When I travel, he looks after the transportation and baggage," Mrs. Misselner explained.

The detective stroked his jaw and whispered with Carson again.

"This advance agent of yours—this Ali—where is he?"

"Blodgett," called the widow, "send Ali here."

The presence faded into the perspective of the passage and in a few minutes materialized on the threshold—alone.

"Ali is not in the house, madam," the footman reported.

"Ask Miss Holcomb if she sent him anywhere."

"What tribe does this Indian belong to?" Donnelly inquired importantly. "Choctaw? Cherokee? Sioux? Maybe he's an Apache?"

Mrs. Misselner smiled. It was not an unpleasant smile, but it jarred an inconspicuous "Huh!" out of the detective. All the others save the serious Ransome smiled too, and Griswold laughed aloud.

"He isn't that kind of an Indian," Sands enlightened the sleuth. "He's a native of India—a Hindoo."

"Of course," rumbled the Central Office man, indignantly. "I know that. What I want to know is what kind of

"I should say he was a Sepoy," remarked Griswold. There was a malicious gleam in his eyes.

"Sepoy—huh?" Donnelly turned to Carson. "What do you know about that?" he asked. Carson knew nothing whatever about that. It would have been disloyal to know more than his colloquy.

There was a man in Mulberry Street, Bruxton was to find much more efficient than the present visitors from headquarters. As the widow did not know that, she was a good deal bored, and some of her first distress at the loss of her jewels, particularly the Maharane diamond, returned. She was almost despondent when the detective, after an exhaustive search of the servants' quarters, returned. They had ransacked even the room of Mrs. Misselner's absent maid, but to no purpose.

"Is there anything more you wish to know?" asked Mrs. Misselner, rising. Donnelly was oblivious to the hint.

"Yes, ma'am, Miss Misselner," he answered. "I think we'll talk to your secretary now."

CHAPTER IV.

"The Chief Wants to See You."

Ellnor Holcomb, tall, graceful, gray-eyed, stood framed between crimson portieres like a Velasquez portrait. Her refinement differed from Mrs. Misselner's climatically, but, despite the polar opposite of their coloring, there was a resemblance between them. Mrs. Misselner's eyes turned to her apologetically.

"I regret to disturb you so late, Ellnor," she said, "but these gentlemen insist on seeing you. I suppose you were sleeping?"

"I was dozing, I fear," smiled the girl. "I had been reading." She held a book in her hand.

"The necklace with the Maharane diamond is gone," the widow explained, "and paste jewels have been put in their place. This is Detective Donnelly, of the Central Office, and this is Detective—ah—"

"Carson, ma'am," said Donnelly. "I'm sure I'm very glad to see Mr. Donnelly and Mr. Carson, since there has been a robbery," said Ellnor calmly. She moved softly to the center of the room and stood looking at the headquarters men. "Are you sure the real diamonds are gone?"

Mrs. Misselner made a gesture toward the safe and indicated the heap of false gems on the table.

"Is it likely," answered Griswold, "that whoever put the paste stones there would neglect to take the real ones? I see you read De Maupassant, Miss Holcomb. Stories like 'The Necklace' don't happen."

Ellnor laughed as she turned the book in her hand so the others might see the name of the great Frenchman on the cover.

"Yet the way the young couple spoiled their lives to pay for the false necklace reads plausibly," she retorted. "You are growing more observant, Mr. Griswold."

Sands was overcome by his growing impatience.

"If the detectives have any questions to put to Miss Holcomb, I suggest that they waste no time," he said. "There can't be much to ask."

"No, there isn't much, Mr. Sands," retorted the large Central Office man. "I'd just like to ask the young lady who she thinks took the diamonds."

Ellnor looked amazed.

"How should I know?" she queried, a little irritated by the man's abruptness. "This is the first I've heard of the robbery."

"Then maybe you'll explain, miss, why you didn't come in with the others—huh!—that is, why you didn't appear before?"

"I have told you I was reading in my room," she replied. "I knew nothing of the robbery, nor even of Mrs. Misselner's return from the opera, until the housekeeper knocked on my door with the information Mrs. Misselner wished to see me in the library."

"I really regard this as wholly unnecessary," Mr. Donnelly, said the widow, with slow insistence. "Miss Holcomb is not only my secretary, but my trusted friend. Her elder sister was in my class at Smith. I have known the Holcombs many years."

"You may think you know them, ma'am," Donnelly persisted, "but my experience is you never can tell who you know in a case like this. Ma'am, my wife-partner has been sent here to recover your jewels and locate the thief, and if you don't let us do it in our own way, we can't be held responsible."

Ellnor then did something that was unaccountable to the widow who thought she knew her so well, and which rather startled Sands. She turned to little Miss March and, laying her head on the young girl's shoulder, wept untrammelledly. Dorothy, putting her shoulder, stood looking helplessly at Mrs. Misselner.

One of those awkward pauses followed in which nobody seemed to know what to do. Sands stared hard at the floor. Ransome wringed in his chair uncomfortably. Even Blodgett's carved features twitched for an instant. Mrs. Misselner gazed at Ellnor, plainly perplexed. Sympathy struggled slowly to the surface of her gaze. She went up to her secretary, and put her arm about the weeping girl's waist.

"This cannot be necessary, Mr. Donnelly," she said. "I would rather lose jewels twice as valuable than have Miss Holcomb distressed in this way. She knows nothing she will not tell us."

Donnelly and Carson whispered fervently to one another at a little distance from the central group. Blodgett's eyes, turning slowly in a graven face, traversed the length and breadth of them as if nothing could please him better than to still the duchess with a mighty blow and jolt Carson out of the room. The only person entirely at ease was Griswold. He smoked tranquilly, his glance traveling from one to another in rotation with the appreciativeness of a connoisseur studying a great picture. There was something of the dilettante in the man. He was the opposite of Sands in every particular save breeding, and even in that respect there was a difference.

Sands broke the tension with a

"What are you going to do?" asked the sleuth, visibly anxious.

"I'm going to have Manning call you fellows back to Mulberry Street," said Sands, his jaw hardening. "He's sent the wrong men. This isn't a Tenderloin case."

"Now, see here, Mr. Sands—"

"I'm seeing straight enough," returned Sands. "I asked the Detective Bureau to send up an important case, and the wires crossed before my message got to the Chief. Somebody told him it was a Chinatown hold-up. Now I'm going to talk to him straight. Hello, Springs! What's the matter with that number?"

"You're going strong, Mr. Sands, even for a society man," said Donnelly, doing his best to quiet the duchess, "but I don't see any shield on your shirtfront, and me and my partner ain't got any call taking orders from you. We're on this case, and we're going to stay on it. And if you start anything with Manning, you want to be sure you can finish it." He was white, shaking—whether with rage or fear no one could say. Turning to Mrs. Misselner, he went on: "I suppose you know, ma'am, interference with an officer is a pretty serious thing. We're here on duty, and it's up to you to see we're not bothered."

Mrs. Misselner paled. She dreaded, not the law, but a scene.

"I think we would better let them have their way," Bruxton, she murmured, the light of admiration in her eyes in contrast to her words. "Mr. Donnelly knows Miss Holcomb's standing now. He will remember."

Donnelly didn't know precisely what he was expected to remember, but he realized gentler tactics were safer toward the widow's secretary while Sands was around. It did not escape even his observation that neither Ransome nor Griswold had said anything in Miss Holcomb's defense.

"Now, this is all wrong, young lady," he said to Ellnor, bearing on the soft pedal as much as he could. "It isn't right for you to go on like this, you know. You'll get yourself all worked up and then you won't be able to answer our questions. Take my word for it, it's best for you to keep yourself in hand."

Moonlight Blindness.

Moonlight most intense sometimes causes sore eyes in Cuba, and the natives navigate and perambulate with umbrellas and paranas. This very obstinate affection is cured by washing the eyes with moonlight-fallen dew, so the infatigable Frank Steinhart, former consul general to Cuba, said. Not so strange a joke and cure after all, for such dew has been found to be radioactive and electric.

BACK TO THE WOODS FOR MAINE SENATOR.

Senator Wm. P. Frye of Maine, who has returned to his home for the summer in disgust and says he will not return to his duties in Washington until next winter.

"The Senate is a lonesome place to me nowadays," Senator Frye said tonight. "There is not a man in either branch of Congress who was there when I entered Congress. To me the Senate seems a body than it used to be, but that is simply because I am growing older, I suppose."

Senator Frye not only holds the record of the Senate in point of service, but has been in Congress longer than any man now a member of either branch.

The report of the cattle market committee presented at Colchester town council the other day contained an item as to a pig starving, followed by "Resolved, That the town clerk communicate with the offender, warning him against committing any offense in future." It was touching to hear that penitent animal giving its word of honor that nothing of the sort should occur again.—London Globe.

Paraguay Tea.

The yerba mate, or Paraguay tea, has an immense consumption in the lower parts of South America, almost to the exclusion of tea and coffee. It grows wild and plentiful, is cheap as dirt and has a good per cent. of the active principle of tea and coffee, but less than either. It has a genuine high therapeutic, soothing, stimulating effect upon the stomach and the whole system. The people over a large part of South America have the very strongest belief in its curative and consoling effects.

Cross, Sick Children Will Take 'Cascarets'

It is Cruel and Needless to Force a Feverish, Irritable Child to Take a Nauseating Dose of Oil.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on once in a while—castor oil, salts or cathartics. How you hated them. How you fought against taking them. How you dreaded their after-effects. That was all wrong but then nobody knew better.

With our children it's different. They belong to the day of the gentle in medicine. The day of harsh physics is over. We don't force the bowels now. We coax them. We have no dreaded after-effects. And the dose is a candy tablet.

Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't know what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender bowels are harmed by them. The modern way is to give a gentle laxative, and to give it more frequently. To keep the bowels always active. The best method is Cascarets. One-half a tablet, as often as needed, does more than anything else to keep a child well. Keep a 10 cent box at home always. They are best for mamma and daddy, too.
